FAIR BOARD ORGANIZES

Faugsted Again President; Departmental Chairmen Appointed For 1940 Show

El Dorado County's fair board organized for the 1940 year Tuesday night by re-electing George E. Faugsted as president.

Arnold Weber was named vice-president and John A. Winkelman, secretary and treasurer.

Members of the board were assigned to departmental chairmanships as follows:

Dr. Lester B. Rantz, 4-H and School Exhibits; Clarence S. Collins, Mineral Exhibits; Willard Wilkinson, Grange and Farm Bureau Exhibits; A. C. Winkelman, Agriculture and Domestic Science Exhibits; Norman Celio, Livestock Exhibits; Paul Smith, Concessions; and Arnold Weber, Lumber Exhibits.

The Fair Committee has opened an office in the same room with John A. Winkelman, the County Horticultural Commissioner, at the County Courthouse. Thomas Chard, the Business Manager of the Fair, will be in charge here and invites anyone seeking information or inquiries about the Fair to see him at this place.

All Grange and Farm Bureau Center Hasters and Chairmen and any other members interested in the Fair are asked to meet members of the Fair Committee Wednesday evening, June 26, at 7:30 p. m., in Memorial Hall, Placerville. The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint the Grange and Farm Bureau Center members with the new rules and regulations regarding Agricultural booths and the theme of the 1940 Fair, which is "Flowers."

The Premium list for this year has been taken to Sacramento and is now in the hands of the Department of Finance. As soon as it is approved and returned, entry lists will be opened.

The building program at the Fair Grounds is progressing satisfactory under the supervision of the County Engineer, Don Hoffman. He states that the foundations for the stock buildings and the grandstand are being placed, and the restroom building is about 30 per cent completed.

Reno's Rodeo

July 4, 5, 6, 7

Three Mounted Poses Of California Sheriffs To Take Part In Show

RENO—Fastest growing rodeo in the west is a name which truly fits the Reno rodeo and livestock show to be held July 4, 5, 6 and 7 at Reno. Started six years ago, it now offers an outstanding selection of western riding and roping events, plus the acres of rodeo entertainment.

Dick Griffith, premiere trick rider of the world; Mont Montana and his trick riders, and Chet and Juanita Howell, top ropers, will headline the arena stars. Homer Holcomb, best known of all western clowns, will be another feature of the four day show. Cy Tallion, a new announcer for Nevada audiences, will describe the thrilling events in the arena.

Added color will be given the rodeo by the attendance of three of California's best known mounted groups, the San Francisco sheriff's posse, the Contra Costa posse from Martinez and the Sacramento sheriff's posse.

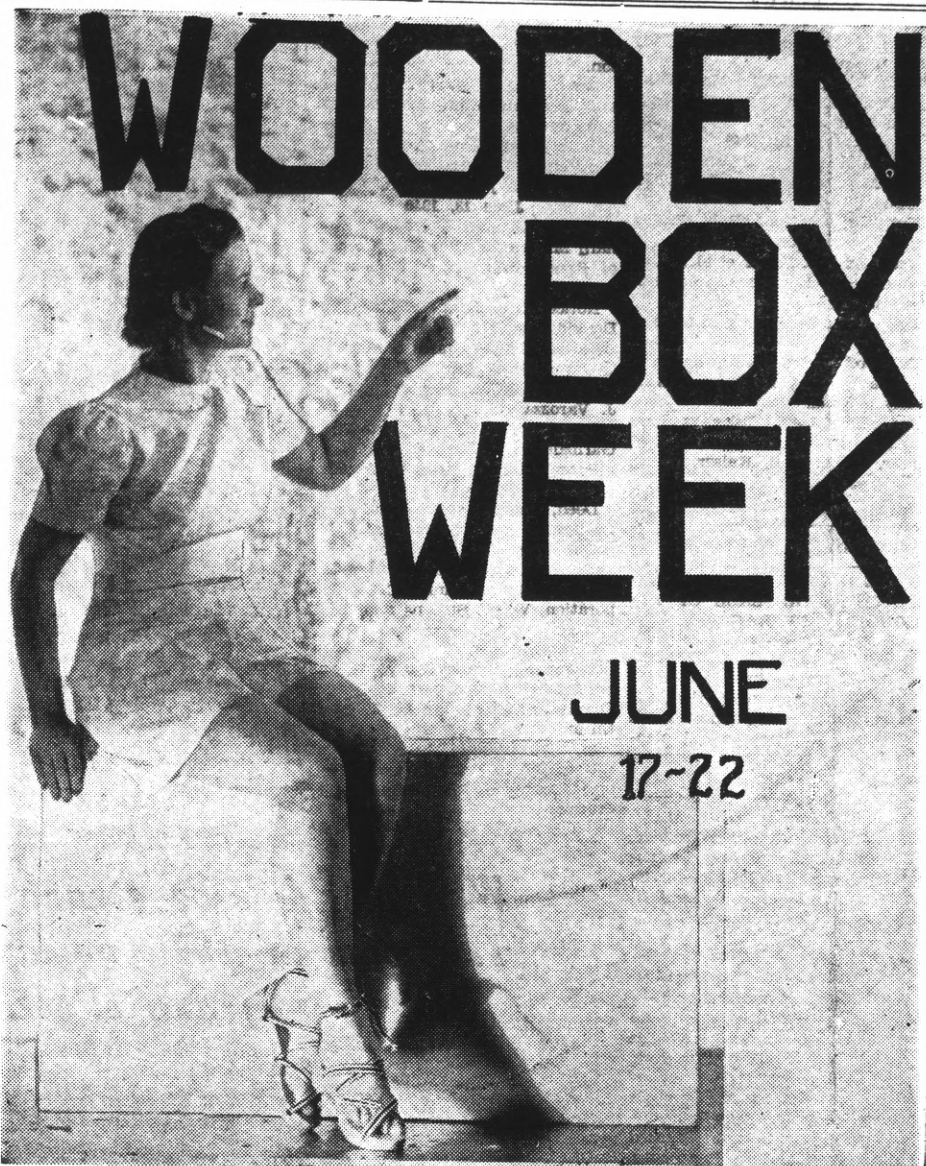

To take care of the anticipated crowds which will throng Reno over the Fourth of July weekend, more than 1,600 new reserved seats are being added to the grand stand.

'27 LICENSES TO BE "N. G."

Drivers Holding Cards Issued In '27, '28 And '29 Must Re-Apply

All good until revoked licenses issued in 1927 have been revoked as of July 1, according to the Placerville office of the State Department of Motor Vehicles. Holders of these licenses are advised to renew them at once in order to avoid a last-minute rush.

To date less than 30 per cent of these licenses have been renewed, and this means that there will be inevitable delays for those who do not apply now.

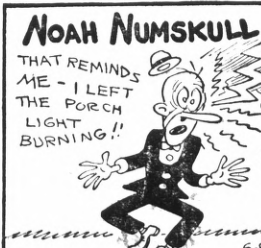

Especially is this true when it is considered that more than one million 1928 and 1929 licenses also will be cancelled within a short time.

Holders of 1927, 1928 and 1929 licenses living in El Dorado County may secure renewals now by applying at the Highway Patrol office on Mondays from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 and on Tuesdays from 9 to 12 and 1 to 3.

As these licenses have not been examined for at least 9 years they will be required to take a vision, written and driving test.

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith was in the Wright's Lake section Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ella Ayers, who is visiting at Sacramento, is reported as not feeling so well the past few days.

HIT AND RUN DRIVER IS JAILED FOR SIXTY DAYS

Sam Manning, of Shingle, employed as a miner near Kelsey, was lodged in jail for sixty days in lieu of a fine set at $120 on Wednesday morning following his conviction in the court of Justice of the Peace J. W. Landis, at Diamond Springs, on a misdemeanor charge of hit and run driving.

Manning was charged, failed to stop following a collision on State Route 49 between Diamond Springs and the Weber Creek bridge Tuesday evening, between his car and a machine driven by Joseph Pechauer, of Oakland.

It was reported that Manning was overtaken following his failure to stop after having reached a point beyond the Diamond Springs school on the road between Diamond and El Dorado.

Walter Bidstrup was in town from the Logtown section on Wednesday.

G.O.P. MEETS ON PLATFORM

Deliberations Opened Today To Spokesmen For Special Groups

NEW YORK, (UP)—In an editorial entitled "We Hope Its Wilkie," the Scripps-Howard newspapers today announced that they would support Wendell L. Wilkie for the Republican presidential nomination.

"In our opinion Wilkie is the only candidate with whom the Republicans have a chance to win, as the prospect appears on the eve of their convention," the editorial said. "The country will listen to him. It will listen to Roosevelt. It will have a choice between two strong men."

"If the Republican party wants to provide real opposition—and that is its duty—it will nominate Wilkie."

PHILADELPHIA, (UP)—Confident that President Roosevelt has made a political blunder in going practically all out in behalf of the Allies, Republicans opened their platform deliberations to spokesmen of special groups today.

One of these spokesmen will be John L. Lewis, who, in a speech last night, absolved former President Herbert Hoover of blame for the depression. Lewis, president of the Committee of Industrial Organizations quit the Republican party for Mr. Roosevelt and the new deal. His speech suggested to some observers that he was ready to return possibly as a backer of Mr. Hoover's "dark horse" candidacy for the Republican nomination.

Alf M. Landon, 1936 presidential candidate and chairman of the subcommittee which will write the party's foreign relations plank, Senate Minority Leader Charles L. McNary, and the house minority leader, Joseph W. Martin, Jr., were expected to be powerful factors in the developing stop-Wilkie movement. Wendell L. Wilkie, the utilities executive, has emerged in the last few weeks as a leading candidate for the party's presidential nomination to be bestowed in the convention opening here Monday.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, congressional, agricultural, Negro, women's and other organizations also will be heard by the platform committee today.

Training Plan For 2,000,000

Program, If Approved By Congress, Would Call Boys, Girls, 19 To 21

WASHINGTON, (UP)—A high administration official said today that President Roosevelt's proposal for compulsory government service envisages training of 2,000,000 young people each year for potential military, industrial and technical duties.

The plan—unprecedented in the country's peace-time history if accepted by congress—would be conceived "until the world returns to sanity," this official said. Whether congress would approve was uncertain. Initial reaction was mixed.

Details have not been completed, but it was understood that present plans would require one year of service at little or no pay beyond subsistence.

Mr. Roosevelt, announcing his plan at a press conference yesterday, emphasized the contemplated training program for boys, but in response to a question said that it probably would be extended to include girls if useful tasks could be found for them. The high administration official who has been working on details of the plan said that his conception of it would include both boys and girls, about equally divided.

At what age the young people will be trained, the administration official said, has not been decided definitely. Those called, he said, probably would be between 19 and 21 years of age, inclusive.

Miss Marilyn Rupley is now employed at the Cash Mercantile Stores Co., replacing Mrs. Lucile Senchal, who has moved to Nevada, where her husband is a school teacher. Mrs. Senchal left Friday and Miss Rupley went to work the first of this week, according to Harry V. Jespersen, manager of the store.

U. S. POINTS TO MONROE ACT

Germany, England And France Given Notice

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The United States has officially warned the governments of Germany and Italy that it will support the Monroe Doctrine in connection with the belligerent island possessions in this hemisphere, the state department said today.

The American diplomatic representatives in both Rome and Berlin were instructed to inform those governments of the United States' attitude last Monday.

The exact form of the warning was not made public immediately.

The action was motivated by the collapse of the French defenses and overtures for peace instituted by the Bordeaux government.

The governments of France, Great Britain and Holland have been informed simultaneously of the United States views relative to any possible transfer of territory, the department said.

The statement appeared broad enough to include Canada, a dominion of the British Empire, and Greenland, a Danish possession.

President Roosevelt extended the Monroe Doctrine to Canada in a speech nearly two years ago.

GOLDEN EAGLE USEFUL AS WELL AS ORNAMENTAL

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UP)—The golden eagle, only recently accorded protection by an act of Congress in its capacity as the American national bird, does something besides occupy his perch on the "tail" side of a half dollar, findings of fish commissions and universities in Colorado, Wyoming and Idaho reveal.

Ascents high into the Rocky Mountains to photograph eagles' nests revealed that the big birds feed primarily on prairie dogs during early summer.

C. C. Spencer, staff technician of the Pike national forest in Colorado, said that the rodents consume a total of 26.2 per cent of available grazing land each year. Other rodents bring the annual total to 35.5 per cent, he said.

TREE DOWNS TREE CUTTER

FRENCH AWAIT PEACE TERMS

Air And Sea Fleets May Join With England; Nazi Air Raid Kills 14

By UNITED PRESS
Adolf Hitler completed the Nazi domination of continental Europe today, forced France to accept German terms for armistice negotiations and sent waves of airplanes to scatter bombs across the British Isles.

The armistice terms which Hitler and Italian Premier Benito Mussolini agreed to dictate to France were still undisclosed—even to the French government—but French plenipotentiaries were named to receive them at a time and place set by the Germans.

That the armistice terms to be dictated by the axis powers would be harsh, calling for complete capitulation and probably surrender of the French fleet, was taken for granted in Berlin. An armistice, however, will be designed merely to end the warfare in France, leaving the final peace terms to be established at a later date—presumably at the end of the European war.

Fighting went on in France and on the widespread battlefields of Africa. The Berlin high command said that subjugation of French provinces was almost complete with the capture of Cherbourg, Nancy, and many other towns as well as an advance toward the big industrial center of Lyon. French forces continued to resist in the Maginot line area, but were encircled.

The German air raid on the British Isles, in which 14 persons were killed and 16 wounded and seven German planes shot down, was the biggest of the war but it was still primarily reconnaissance in nature—a foretaste of the bombardments which Nazis say will soon begin. The greatest damage was done in a town of Cambridgeshire but the bombing was general, especially along the east coast. It lasted four hours.

Determination of Great Britain and the British Empire to fight on remained unshaken and there were some indications that part of the French fighting forces might continue the war. French airplanes were reported flying to North Africa. The French fleet of 804,700 tons—which both Britain and Germany seek as of possible decisive importance in outcome of the war—was still unaccounted for, although some units were understood to be fighting under British command in the Mediterranean.

Parties interested in applying for either post should file their applications not later than June 28th.

Louis 2 To 1 Favorite To Knock Out Godoy

NEW YORK, (UP)—Champion Joe Louis, and Arturo Godoy of Chile, rugged master of the baffling bull-frog defense, idled at their camps today awaiting tomorrow night's "do or die" battle in Yankee Stadium. The price was 2 to 1 that the Bomber would knock out the Chilean, a feat he was unable to do in the February 15 round bout.

Among those to whom licenses to wed were reported as issued on Monday at Reno were Arthur Kurwitz, 28, of Placerville and Ruth Branson, 18, of Branscomb.

Styles Merge in Modern Home Garden

A Good Layout Creates a Garden of Both Use and Beauty.

In small gardens today classifications tend to merge. The orthodox types of garden design become strangely mixed. The formal and the informal, the natural and architectural, often mingle, and, strange to say, the effect may be delightful. It should be said that the controlling purpose of modern ornamental garden design is to display the beauty of the flowers and plants which grow in the garden. There can be no beauty in a garden greater than the beauty of its plants; and the design is good in proportion to its success in displaying at their best the natural grace, form and color of the garden's horticultural treasures.

This trend toward simplicity of garden design is in harmony with dress design, interior decoration and other branches of the decorative arts. And like the others, the garden relies for much of its effect upon the studied use of color. There are still to be found in our formal gardens geometrical beds and bi-symmetrical grouping of ornaments which might have been copied from mid-Victorian models; but seldom nowadays, except in public parks and railway station grounds is the carpet bedding fashion followed, in which plants are required to surrender their individual charm, and become merely pigments with which a gardener embroiders patterns on the lawn.

Formal beds now do not call for stiff and formal planting, but in them flowers are grown in their natural grace and beauty, so arranged, as to both form and color, that the feeling of balance essential to any good design is preserved.

Such arrangements are dependent upon skillful color grouping for their major charm; and where can be found a greater opportunity for the pleasing use of color than in a garden?

Flowers are color. They afford an infinite range of material ready to the hand of the artist who would combine them in a picture. It is not strange that the wave of color consciousness which has spread over the world and so strongly influenced our fashions in dress and decoration should focus in our gardens.

The layout of the small garden is tied directly to the plan of the house. Direct and inviting communication between house and garden is important, so that the maximum use of the outdoor department of the home, "the outdoor living room," may be enjoyed.

And a vegetable plot, where fresh and tender vegetables can be picked a few minutes before it is time to cook them, completes the ideal small garden design. In the illustration, it is shown directly off the kitchen door, separated from the ornamental garden by a hedge, but contributing an attractive as well as useful feature to the small home grounds.

ONE MAN'S NOTION ON WHAT "MAKES" A PICNIC

"Will you tell me why in time women insist upon having everything from soup to nuts for a picnic or barbecue when what a man really wants is a big slab of barbecued meat, good thick slices of bread, and plenty of cold beer to wash it down?"

This letter sounds so angrily emphatic that it seems high time to let women know how men feel about barbecues. It is safe to assume that this particular man is not the only one who is violent on the subject. And, maybe he has something!

This man wants first, a tub—preferably a wooden one—filled with ice and Regal Pale beer—and nearby a bowl of potato chips or pretzels. That, he figures, will keep everybody happy while he officiates at the grill—and also keep people from being underfoot. They'll be happy as clams waiting for the food to arrive, in spite of the tantalizing odors wafted their way. Regal Pale, he says, "is the most satisfying, sparkling, mellowing way of keeping people happy and contented."

That's all! Plenty of Regal Pale before supper, with supper and after supper, plenty of hamburgers—and plenty of French bread. Anything more can be considered as mere trimmings and fixins, although he admits a weakness for his wife's potato salad. The trick, it seems, is to season the potatoes and baptize with vinegar and olive oil while hot, before putting in the chopped celery and hard boiled eggs and mayonnaise—or whatever it is that women put into potato salad. "It's that business of doing it while the po-

LOVELY LINDA DARNELL and handsome John Payne are a couple of plucky small-town youngsters wood's sun in "Star Dust," the 20th Century-Fox film which stars Miss Linda at the Empire Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday only.

"STAR DUST" SONG WAS INSPIRATION FOR NEW EMPIRE FILM

What is generally conceded to be the greatest of all modern ballads, "Star Dust," by Hoagy Carmichael, has inspired a great picture, the 20th Century-Fox film of the same name which stars lovely Linda Darnell.

The perennially popular number is sung by Mary Healy in the film, showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Empire Theatre.

The picture tells the story of a couple of plucky small-town youngsters scrapping for their place in Hollywood—a story that will tell the tale of Linda's own meteoric rise to stardom.

Also featured are two brand new songs by Mack Gordon, famous Hollywood song writer. These songs "Secrets in the Moonlight," and "Don't Let It Get You Down," are two of the best numbers Gordon has ever done and it should be remembered that he was in on such famous hits as "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking," "Never in a Million Years," and many others.

PHILADELPHIA WAS HOST TO REPUBLICAN PARTY AT FIRST CONVENTION, EIGHTY-FOUR YEARS AGO, 600 DELEGATES

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Eighty-four years ago, the Republican party, a political infant meeting for its first time in nominating convention, chose Gen. John C. Fremont as its first presidential candidate in Philadelphia.

On June 24, the G. O. P., faced as in 1856 with the problem of choosing a candidate to wrest the presidency from a democratic standard-bearer, returns here for the fourth time to select its nominee.

The Municipal Auditorium, with ample capacity for 15,000, will house the 1940 convention. In 1856, the Musical Fund Hall was the site where some 600 delegates crowded to participate in the choosing of the party's first aspirant for the chief executive's chair.

A preliminary gathering of Republicans was held at Pittsburgh on Washington's Birthday, 1856, when delegates from 23 states decided to call a nominating convention on June 17, the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Contemporary reports say that nearly 1,000 delegates attended the first convention, but the roll-call shows only 600 names.

Fremont, the "Pathfinder" finally was chosen and the battle for the vice presidency began. A new name was introduced—unknown outside of the middle west, when Col. William B. Archer of Illinois seconded the nomination of Abraham Lincoln for the vice presidency. He was asked by a heckler:

"Will he fight?"

"Yes, sir," Archer replied. "He's a Kentuckian, and a tall man whichever way you can fix it."

Lincoln received 110 votes for the vice presidential nomination, but William L. Dayton of New Jersey was nominated with 253 votes.

The Fremont and Dayton ticket lost to the democratic slate of Jas. Buchanan and J. C. Breckenridge.

In 1872, President Ulysses S. Grant was renominated by the republicans in a matter-of-fact session held at the historic Academy of Music. There were not enough offices in the Academy to serve the demands for meeting rooms, so the Horticultural Hall, adjoining it, was used as a convention hall annex.

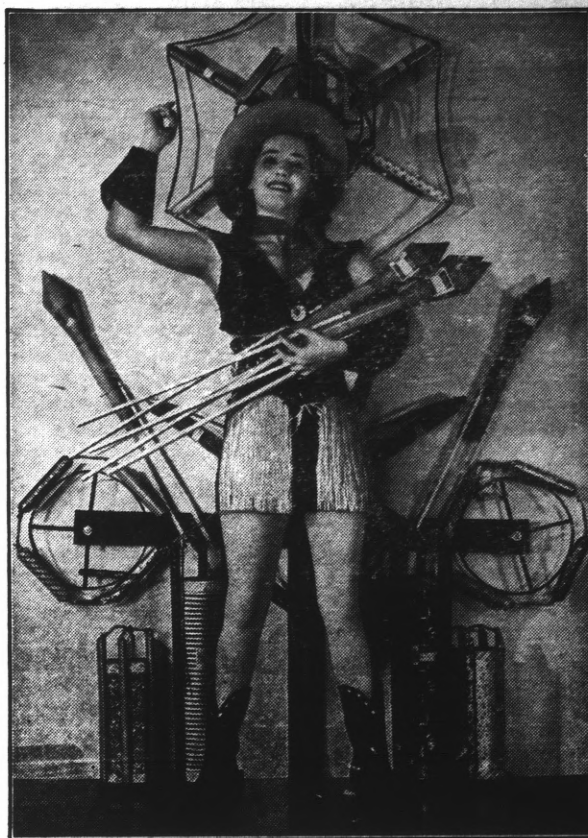

The reporters assigned to the 1872 convention sat on the Academy stage and in the orchestra pit. The building's famous Green Room was utilized as a wire room, where a group of 25 telegraph instruments were set up to answer the demands of America's newspapers.

The platform was ratified at a huge outdoor meeting in front of the Union League, Republican stronghold down Broad Street from the Academy.

Latest visit of the republicans to Philadelphia until this year came in 1900 when William McKinley was renominated at Commercial Museum which adjoins the Municipal Auditorium which will house the 1940 convence.

McKinley's renomination was accepted as a matter of course, but the convention was made momentous by subsequent events of history when it named Theodore Roosevelt, fighting governor of New York, for vice-president.

ROOTIN', SHOOTIN', BANG-UP SHOW!

MISS VIRGINIA GEORGE, THE "GOLDEN WEST GIRL," makes a bit of yippee beside one of the spectacular fireworks sets which is to form part of the big, new pyro-technics display to be presented by Shell Oil Company, Incorporated during the County Fair August 23, 24 and 25, according to Louis R. Armes, local Shell Co. manager.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY PROMISED FOR COUNTY FAIR ON SATURDAY NIGHT, AUGUST 24; OIL FIRM ANNOUNCES FREE ATTRACTION

A grand, spectacular display of fireworks, entitled "The Glory of our Forty-Eight States," has been specially produced as a feature of the El Dorado County Fair.

This unusual exhibition of pyrotechnic creations is being presented by Shell Oil Company, Incorporated. The theme of this year's show opens the way for the use of many brand new novelties in aerial fireworks, according to Shell's local manager, L. R. Armes.

Screaming eagle rockets, star-spangled shells, red, white and blue meteors, lightning and multiple report shells, searchlight rockets, and thundering batteries and national emblem parachute shells are just a few of the beautiful surprise pieces which will transform the heavens in a veritable field of color in action.

In addition, there will be a large assortment of old-time favorites such as hissing serpents, willow trees, floral bouquets and vari-colored comet shells. And, of course, a giant closing spectacle of fiery grandeur.

The exhibition is free, and the public is invited to witness it. Expert pyrotechnic men have been engaged to fire the display, according to Mr. Armes.

GRIZZLY FLAT

At the recent school election Mrs. Dell Meyer was elected to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Lucy Leventon who did not "choose to run" again. Mrs. Leventon had been a school trustee and clerk of the board for so many years that she had lost track of the time. She is the mother of eight children, all of whom are grown and through school now.

While she was clerk in 1925 the school house burned with almost a total loss. She had to rebuild and equip. They now have a substantial building with metal roof. This year a sanitary drinking fountain and wash basin with running water was installed in the building. Mrs. Leventon still takes an active interest in the school and the community and her many friends wish to extend their thanks and appreciation for her many years of unselfish service.

The Mountain school closed on June 19th for a three-week vacation to open again on July 15th for the new term. The parents and friends gathered at the schoolhouse on the afternoon of June 19th to hear the program of songs, recitations and dialogues given by the pupils. Miss Margaret Morey accompanied the pupils on the piano which added much to the enjoyment of the numbers. After the program refreshments of cake and punch was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Vivian E. Watson and two sons left on Thursday for Oakland where they expect to visit relatives and Treasure Island for a short time. She will then go on to her old home near Redding, Shasta county, for a brief visit before returning for the opening of school on July 15th.

LOTUS NOTES

Chas. W. Stills who recently purchased the Bowman property near the Four-Corners, was attending to business matters in our town on Thursday last. Mr. Stills and his wife are two of the parties who are interested in the Valley Realty and Building Company at Tugunga, Los Angeles County. They are also interested in the insurance business of all kinds. During Mr. Stills' stay here attending to his property interests his wife, Mrs. Ada Stills, is looking after their office in Tugunga for a time.

Mrs. Jessie White and her lady friend, Mrs. Eleanor Lory returned to Lotus on Friday of last week after some two weeks' visit at Burlingame and Bakersfield. Mrs. Lory brought Mrs. White home and on Saturday morning at 4 o'clock returned back to her home. We look for the lady to return again home as she much likes Lotus and El Dorado County.

Our town has been over-run with peddlers and agents the past week; on Tuesday Floyd Williams representing the Wakins products and on Wednesday L. H. Mitchell the Rawleigh man with the same products were calling at the residences of all here, selling some of their goods—besides these two men other agents were in our town selling books and taking subscriptions for papers and magazines which kept our ladies busy answering their darn call bells.

Newton Grout, one of our Coloma merchants and service station men was in our town early Monday morning attending to some business matters and sight-seeing the town. New is somewhat engaged in mining with others near Gold Hill while his wife looks after his business at their Gold Discovery Park near Coloma.

Mrs. Harry Reaside and her lady friend took last Thursday off from household duties and spent the day in Sacramento doing some shopping and sight-seeing the city.

Buck Jones of near Clarksville, with his large herd of cattle, passed through our streets the past week enroute to his mountain range for the summer months.

Mrs. Zelma Rosenberger, assistant postmaster of the Coloma post-office, was in our town Monday taking subscriptions for the Mountain Democrat. Zelma is one of the group who is after some of the cash prize money given by that paper and is out to win. We wish her much success.

Perley Monroe and Ollie Blakey of Sacramento were in our town on Sunday. Perley brought up a truck for Godfrey Glenn who is cutting wood for him on the Monroe ranch in the Weber Creek district. Glenn is to use the truck hauling the wood—some 60 tier or more—in one pile in case of a forest fire. Monroe drove the truck up to his ranch and returned with Blakey back to the capital city via Placerville.

The weather the past week has been somewhat warm. On Tuesday and Friday the temperature was at the 106 mark both days from noon to 4:30 p. m.—the highest mark to date for the month and for the season.

We learn that the card party given by Gold Trail Grange at the community hall in Coloma Saturday night was not very well attended—only 12 tables being on the floor. The writer knew nothing about the game or we would surely have been there. A great publicity man we are.

After some two weeks staying with his aunt, Mrs. Annie Davidson, in Oakland, Everett DeLory returned to his home at Coloma on Thursday evening of last week. Mrs. Davidson, known as Annie DeLory is a native of Coloma and has resided in Oakland for some years. She is a life-long friend and old school mate of the writer. Annie as we all called her has passed her four-score year mark and for the past year has not had very good health. She has only one sister, Mrs. Emma Mahler, who lives in Sacramento.

Mrs. Harry Reaside, Miss Helen Raeside drove to Placerville Friday afternoon to be present at the card party given by the Episcopal Guild. Mrs. Irma Lawyer and daughter, Mrs. Tidd, were in Lotus for a short time Saturday evening, prior to the Grange card party at Coloma. Mrs. Lawyer was winner of the grand prize of $3.00 at the whist game—having had high score for three consecutive months.

Mrs. Lottie Galleher made a trip to Sacramento on Thursday and brought home as her guest for some time to come, Mrs. Mary Howland, a former resident of Lotus. Charlie Hines, Charles Hines, Jr., Eugene Hines, and Frank Hines, made an overnight fishing trip to Loon Lake Sunday. The outing was to celebrate Frank Hines' birthday.

WHY WOODEN BOX WEEK?

Wooden Box Week is being observed this year in communities up and down the entire Pacific Slope, during the week of June 17 to 22.

And why—because Federal Reserve Bank figures show that 60 per cent of all income on the Pacific Coast is derived from the Wooden Box and Lumber Industry.

Sixty per cent—three-fifths of every dollar in your pocket at this very moment has been derived directly or indirectly from the Wooden Box and Lumber Industry.

If you are a butcher, baker, grocer, newspaper man, doctor, lawyer, oil man, farmer or what not, if you live from the income of real estate or bonds 60 per cent or three-fifths of all your income is derived directly or indirectly from the Wooden Box and Lumber Industry.

Thousands of people are employed in the industry and their payroll checks along with the purchase of supplies and tax payments for the industry constitute the sole support of some communities.

When the Wooden Box and Lumber Industry declines other businesses immediately feel the effect, their businesses decline too.

A healthy Wooden Box and Lumber Industry on the Pacific Slope is good assurance of a healthy condition for other lines of business.

Wooden Boxes mean more to the Wooden Box and Lumber Industry than just the actual amount of lumber consumed in their manufacture. The lumber used in the manufacture of wooden boxes is a vital one-third of every log. It is the inner part of every log, with many knots. It is lumber that cannot be used in ordinary commercial channels. So that if the lumber industry did not dispose of it for wooden boxes it would be wasted. The industry would have to obtain more for the clear grades of lumber or go out of business.

The knotty lumber can be used for the manufacture of wooden boxes, because only short lengths are needed and the larger knots and defects are cut from the boards.

Thus Wooden Boxes utilize a grade of lumber which might otherwise be wasted. The use of wooden boxes then is a direct forest conservation measure. More of every tree cut from our forests is put to a useful purpose. There is less waste. It aids in supplying higher grades of lumber to the consumer at lower cost.

The many thousands of people engaged in the Wooden Box and Lumber Industry have set aside the week of June 17 to 22, to devote it to informing others about the industry, its place in the community and how we can all work together to make it and other industries better assets for everyone.

New Overhead Lighting Fixtures Perform Double Duty in Dining Room

Tall center ornaments on table-setting blend well with this type of dining room fixture. Glass bowl mounted close to ceiling emits adequate light throughout room. The pewter-and-gold finish of the metal holder harmonizes with room furnishings.

By Alice Lee

THE age-old disagreement between father and mother on light for the dining room seems at last to be reaching a happy solution.

In the past, father has held out for "lots of light" while his better half insisted upon dim, soft illumination, with candles assuming the brunt of the decorative lighting burden on festive occasions.

Soft light in abundance is provided by the dining room overhead lighting fixtures now appearing on the market. These new fixtures are as decorative as they are efficient. Available in a wide variety of all-metal, and metal-and-glass combinations, they harmonize beautifully with your furnishings. At the same time, they furnish the adequate illumination so necessary for reading, study, or table games.

In selecting your new dining room lighting fixture, remember that the lamp bulbs should be concealed, shaded. Glare is annoying, and harmful to the eyes, as well. And make sure that the shade is sufficiently dense to conceal the contour or bright spot of the lighted bulb. If a fixture with branching candle arms is preferred, or a fixture with upturned shades of glass or plastic material enclosing the lamp bulbs, it should be fitted with shades to prevent glare.

Having satisfied yourself on the fixture's general design and lighting qualities, make certain that the color and character of its finish are in keeping with that of your dining room. Then you'll combine efficiency with decorative harmony—a combination that will keep you and your family thoroughly light-happy at all times.

Stewart Says—

Willkie-Roosevelt
Debate Idea Peeves
Third-Term Boosters

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Wendell L. Willkie

WENDELL L. WILLKIE, the Commonwealth and Southern power magnate and Republican presidential possibility, succeeded in getting third-term Dealers thoroughly sore the other day by expressing a yearning to debate with Franklin D. Roosevelt the question: "Has Roosevelt done as good a job for the United States as Willkie has done for public utilities?"

Of course, Willkie's plain implication was that he'd win the argument easily. That made the Rooseveltians hot, for one thing. What made them still hotter was his claim to credit for a 100 per cent loyal utility organization, whereas the president's "bureaucracy, feeding upon political preference and privilege, has developed within itself the inevitable forces of discord and disharmony."

The New Dealers have to admit that there's a bit of disharmony between "pro" and "anti" New Deal Democrats, but they don't like to have it harped upon by Wendell Willkie, who was a Democrat himself until comparatively recently.

Poor Comparison? And anyway, they say, such an outfit as the United States government can't imaginably be as free from differences of opinion among officials as an unincorporated utility run concern like Willkie's power kingdom; if one of Wendell's subordinates (even a very big one) shows signs of disagreeing with his boss in the slightest particular, Wendell fires him instantly.

Those who remain are loyal, all right—they wouldn't remain otherwise—not unless they at least pretended to be mighty loyal. That's the New Dealers' story. But a president of the United States, they explain, can't be so high-handed; it wouldn't be democratic.

They add that they don't believe Wendell ever was much of a Democrat with a big "D" either, although he called himself one for years and years.

Their theory is that he professed Democratic principles because his power realm is largely in Dixie (Commonwealth and Southern) and probably he considered it good business to align himself with the popular kind of southern politics.

No Hereditary Aristocrat It isn't made quite so clear why he flopped to Republicanism lately. Maybe he flopped because he sensed a change in southern political sentiment.

The fact is that Wendell always seemed to me (I've met him frequently in a newspaperman's capacity) to be quite a satisfactory little "d" democrat. Anyhow, he's informal, approachable and an excellent mixer. There's nothing aristocratic about him.

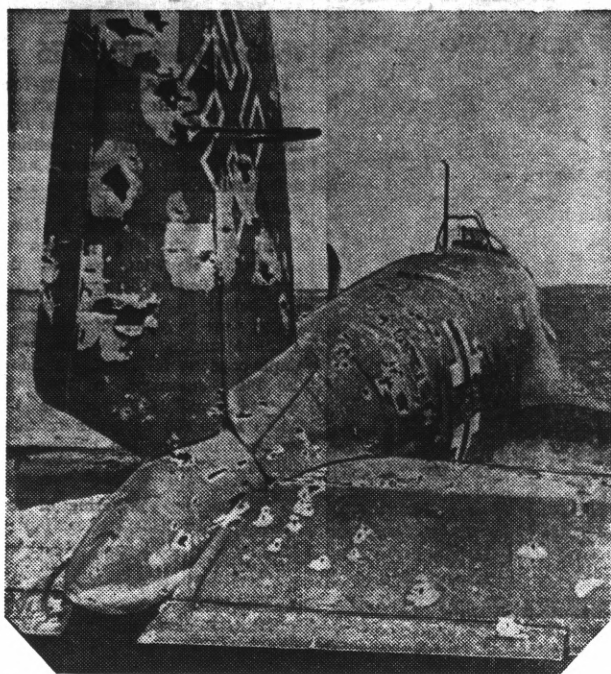

I've met some of his underlings, also. They don't refer to him as a hard-boiled boss. Contrarywise they describe him as a good fellow, but perhaps this is because he scares 'em into it.

The popular impression is that a power magnate is a plutocrat, not only in his own right, but born with a golden spoon in his trap—a guy who doubtless has made a lot of his money, but who had his original stake handed down to him by his ancestors.

Self-Made Man Willkie doesn't belong one particle in that category. He's a native Hoosier, and his family absolutely was all right, but not at all affluent. Wendell worked his own way through Indiana university and on into the legal profession. He got into public utilities through their law departments. Today he's a New Yorker, like Tom Dewey—also a western product (Michigan).

Wendell, in his youth, traveled around the country considerably. He's been a farm laborer. Some of his traveling was done in box cars. So if Wendell's a magnate, he's earned his magnate-ism. Likewise, by his capable, though informal oratory, he's converted himself from a very dark Republican horse, into something of a sure-enough candidate.

FOREST SERVICE EXHIBIT AT TREASURE ISLAND DEMONSTRATES CONSERVATION AND WISE USE OF RESOURCES

Forest conservation and wise use of forest resources are now being symbolized for Golden Gate International Exposition visitors at a number of modern exhibits on San Francisco's Treasure Island.

In participation with the Federal Commission for the Exposition the U. S. Forest Service, Department of Agriculture, has assigned District Ranger Ray Stevenson of the Sequoia National Forest as information attendant at the forest-soil wildlife conservation exhibit in the southwest corner of the Federal Building. The exhibit depicts good forest and soil conservation practices as opposed to unrestricted and abusive use of the land.

Exposition visitors are evincing considerable interest in the Sylvan Court within the Federal grounds where the Forest Service has a series of conservation murals and a fire fighting equipment unit on display. The Sylvan Court is shared with the National Park Service and the U. S. Travel Bureau under the charge of J. L. Bossemeyer of the latter agency.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE MAKES STATEMENTS TO EMPLOYERS

SACRAMENTO—Officials of the State Department of Employment today announced the task of mailing more than 50,000 account charges to as many California employers would be completed by the end of June.

More than 10,000 of the statements, which cover benefits paid during the period from January 1, 1938, to July 1, 1939, already have been sent to employers, according to W. P. French, chief of the Division of Unemployment Insurance.

The statements give employers detailed information on the amount of money charged against their contributions through payment of insurance to former employees.

French said that by September 1, an additional statement, covering the period July 1, 1939 to January 1, 1940, will have been mailed to all subject employers.

Employers have thirty days after receipt of the statements to protest any of the charges. French said that few protests, in comparison to the number of statements mailed, are being received by the department.

Mailing of the statements constitutes the first action in preparing for establishment of experience rating, which will go into effect January 1, 1941, and which may mean reduced contributions to the fund for employers whose personnel has been maintained at a stable level.

STUDENT ACCOUNTANT TEST IS SET FOR JULY 27

SACRAMENTO—Offering an opportunity for a career in California's fiscal service, an examination for student accountant was scheduled today by the state personnel board. The examination date is July 27, 1940. It is hoped that these jobs will offer an added incentive for qualified young men to enter the state service in the apprentice student class and advance up the steps of the promotional ladder to the more responsible and higher salaried positions.

The entrance requirements for the examination include education equivalent to college graduation or graduation from a recognized school of accountancy in the last three years. The beginning salary is $100 a month. Further information may be obtained by writing to the State Personnel Board, 1025 P Street, Sacramento.

SUNDAY PICNIC AT COLOMA BY NATIVE DAUGHTERS IS POSTPONED

The committee of Marguerite Parlor of Native Daughters of the Golden West, which was in charge of arrangements for a picnic at Marshall Monument State Park on Sunday afternoon, announced on Wednesday that the plans have been abandoned.

The committee reports that the decision cancelling picnic plans resulted from the conflict of the date with other engagements.

The Native Daughters will share in the seventy-fifth anniversary program at the Church of Our Saviors on Sunday, when a plaque designating the building as a landmark will be affixed to the building in respect to the memory of the late Father C. C. Peirce. This program will follow the regular morning church service.
